New garden designs

HATFIELD Heath company Aralia Garden Design has teamed up with Bretts Garden Centre, White Roding to offer clients a new garden design service.

To launch the new service, they are offering free design consultations throughout April. Customers can pick up a leaflet at Bretts before the end of the month to qualify for the free consultation. The offer is open to both domestic and commercial clients.

Pat Fox established Aralia Garden Design after taking a college plant course followed by a foundation degree in garden design.
