

M SUNDAY Mirror

Sunday Mirror - Homes and Holidays 24th May 2009

Load and a plan
and think planting before to represent water and clouds

The plan later on
as an alternative material made the topping of garden.

The city also having a small with water

The best of the rest

A REAL KITCHEN GARDEN

WITH increased awareness of where our food comes from and healthy eating, more people are trying their hand at growing their own fruit and veg. Considerable to consider when growing fresh produce - and grow boxes that will produce harvest part of this indoor kitchen, designed by Patricia Lee of Avon Garden Design.

▶ Expert tip Water the base of "let alone" most apples and pears growing in a pot and wrap the garden with plastic to keep the plants warm. ▶ New watch Young plant veg alternatives from the TV (www.gardenmagazine.com) April issue, 0124 871122.

STYLISH WILDER GARDEN

DESIGNED with a view to make the garden look Anthony Cox, Chris Gurnbridge and Lisa Jones discovered it's possible to have a contemporary garden that is also environmentally friendly. The recycling, landscape featured artwork and stacked logs which provide a great habitat for all sorts of beneficial "insects".
▶ Expert tip Create additional built structure in herbaceous beds to provide a habitat for additional nesting and perching sites.
▶ New watch The two-year water logs of logs from the water garden store, 274 No. Newbury Road, 0877 423 7000.

"RUSTIC" CITY GARDEN

DESIGNED by Adam Radford, Chris Gurnbridge and Nigel Dwyer. The garden shows a mix of "rustic" city garden including an "eco-water" such as stone water feature and green to retain the rain which runs off the roof of your house.
▶ Expert tip One year garden to be friendly final point to be a long-term garden with through resistant plants and a plan for beneficial soil insects.
▶ New watch Small houses from 1.95.00 (www.gardenmagazine.com) 14 2009.

The best of the rest

A REAL KITCHEN GARDEN

WITH increased awareness of where our food comes from and healthy eating, many more people are trying their hand at growing their own fruit and veg. Convenience is essential when growing fresh produce – and grow-boxes filled with produce formed part of this outdoor kitchen, designed by Patricia Fox of Aralia Garden Design.

★ Expert tip Make the most of “air space” with apples and pears growing on a pergola and wrap the garden with edible green walls planted with salads.

£ How much Young plant veg collections from £6.99 (www.jerseyplantsdirect.com, 01534 871113).